Keep Boulder County Beautiful!

Have you seen those people in orange vests picking up trash along a highway on a Saturday morning? They are volunteers keeping our roads litter free as part of Boulder County's Adopt-a-County-Road Program.

Western employees don the vests and join the cleanup forces every spring and fall. Mary Bolles. Our stretch is 75th Street between Valmont and Arapahoe. What's amazing is not so much what we find--the expected beer bottles, cigarette packs, and fast food wrappers--but how much we find; it only takes a crew of eight people an hour to fill a pickup truck with trash!

The second way Western contributes is by donating free disposal of all materials collected by the Adopt-a-Road Program. County road crews bring us almost 2,000 pounds per month, all of it picked up by hand.

There are still a few roads waiting for adoption. The sections are 1-2 miles long; the County supplies trash bags, vests, and pickup of the full bags. Yanzeng Zhao. In return for committing to cleanup two times per year, your organization will get a sign with its name on it. To volunteer, call the Boulder County Transportation Department at (303) 441-3900. One thing is for sure: Once you help pick up litter, you'll never throw anything out your car window again!
